

Amândio Jorge Morais Barros

PhD History; Fac. of Humanities of Oporto.

Researcher of the CITCEM, research centre, in the same institution.

Peer-Reviewer/Referee advisor of the European Science Foundation.

Post-doctoral scholarship granted by FCT (National Research Foundation).

Scholarship Research Project: Study of Portuguese mercantile networks within the framework of international commerce, 16th-17th centuries.

Other research projects

DynCoopNet – Dynamics of cooperation in the first global age, 15th to 18th centuries, research project financed by the European Science Foundation.

SA(H)LINA project. Study of salt trade dynamics in Portugal from 15th to 18th centuries, financed by FCT.

Bilateral research action Portuguese and Spanish (Porto University and Valladolid University); study of textile trade and consumption, 15th-18th centuries. This action is financed by the Portuguese Council of University Deans.

Currently research interests

Maritime and Economic History, Maritime communities. Is been attending several congresses and symposiums related to these subjects. Published in Portugal, Spain, France, Italy, England, Canadá, United States, and India. In preparation: a book to be published in Brazil in late 2010 or early 2011.

Main papers

- BARROS, Amândio (2004) – Porto: a construção de um espaço marítimo nos alvares dos tempos modernos (Porto: the building of a maritime space in Early Modern Times) PhD disssertation, Faculdade de Letras da Universidade do Porto. 2 volumes. National History Prize "Prémio Almirante Sarmiento Rodrigues", 2007 awarded by the Portuguese Naval Academy. Prize of Porto History, "Prémio Magalhães Basto de História do Porto", 2007 awarded by the Engenheiro António de Almeida Foundation.
- BARROS, Amândio (2004) – Vinhos de escala e negócios das Ilhas (Wines, ports of call and business of the Islands). Porto: GEHVID.
- BARROS, Amândio (2004-2005) – O trato de escravos e o trabalho forçado no Porto (século XVI) (Slave trade in Oporto, XVIth century). International Symposium (Colóquio Internacional “Trabalho forçado africano: experiências coloniais comparadas”, org. Centro de Estudos Africanos da Faculdade de Letras da Universidade do Porto), 23 e 24 de Novembro de 2004.

- BARROS, Amândio (2004) – Oporto: la costruzione di uno spazio portuale e la sua proizione nel Mediterrâneo, seminar presented at the Cagliari University, directed to the PhD students. Invitation from Professor Bruno Anatra. The publishing of this text is been consider.
- BARROS, Amândio (2005) – Porto: the building of a maritime space in the early modern times, in E-Journal of Portuguese Studies, Brown University.
- BARROS, Amândio (2005) – Women on trade. The Oporto women and their role on business enterprises in the XVIth century, in Portuguese Studies Review, published Semi-annually by the International Conference Group on Portugal, University of New Hampshire, Department of History, 13^o volume (Summer 2005).
- BARROS, Amândio (2006) - Cod Fishery and Global Trade: Porto's Ships at Newfoundland in the 16th Century, in "Atlantica Studia", Hull University.
- BARROS, Amândio (2006) - Pour proteger ses navires. Interventions médiévales et modernes dans l'accès du port de Porto, conferência no âmbito do Seminaire d'Histoire Economique et Maritime: Ports et Littoraux de l'Europe Atlantique au Moyen Age, La sécurisation des accès aux ports en Europe atlantique (XIII^e-début XVI^e siècles), Mathias Tranchant, Michel Bochaca, coordenadores, organização da Universidade de La Rochelle et de Nantes-Faculté des Lettres, Langues, Arts et Sciences Humaines de La Rochelle, 13 de Outubro de 2006.
- BARROS, Amândio (2007j) – The cooperation imposed. Porto and its hinterland (14th-17th centuries), in Port-Cities and their Hinterlands. Migration, Trade and Cultural Exchange. Liverpool, Centre for Port and Maritime History University of Liverpool 7-8 December 2007. Not published (announced for Summer 2009).
- BARROS, Amândio (2008f) - L'accueil des étrangers dans les ports du Nord du Portugal au Moyen Âge jusqu'au XVI^e siècle, in Les risques et leur gestion chez les populations usagères des mers et des littoraux du Ponant (XII^e-XVI^e siècles), "Au risque de l'Étranger chez les sociétés littorales: le protéger et s'en protéger", organização das Universidades de La Rochelle e Nantes, Nantes, 17 de Outubro de 2008.
- BARROS, Amândio (2009c) - "Linking the Atlantic and the Asian worlds: Porto and the Indian trade dynamics in the sixteenth century" in Cultures, Commodities and Networks in the First Global Age, 1000-1800, Rila Mukherjee, coord. Nova Delhi: Indian Council of Historical Network/Manohar, 2009, (2009). Changed to Primus books, will be published in November 2010.
- BARROS, Amândio (2009e) – A naturalidade de Magalhães revisitada, Porto: Edições Afrontamento. Book.

- BARROS, Amândio (2010f) – História do Porto (History of Porto). Vol. VI: A cidade e a construção do mundo global. Matosinhos: QuidNovi. Book.
- BARROS, Amândio (30 de Junho de 2011) - Imposed Cooperation: Porto and its Hinterland in the seventeenth century. Book chapter. Coord. Professor Robert Lee. Liverpool, Routledge.